2 Report summary

2.1 Situation

The Western Isles Health and Social Care Partnership is an integration of health and social care services as outlined in the legislative framework of The Public Bodies (Joint Working) (Scotland) Act 2014. It is enhanced and overseen by the Integration Joint Board (IJB).

The Western Isles IJB is a commissioning body that was created in 2015. It works in close partnership with communities and its delivery partners, and commissions within its financial framework.

A draft Strategic Framework has been developed to guide how the Integrated Joint Board approaches population health challenges and in turn informs the annual cycle commissioning planning. It is designed deliberately with a degree of flexibility in response to the dynamic changes in population health.

2.2 Background

The draft Strategic Framework outlines the current challenges in terms of the changing demographic and the associated health requirements both in terms of co-morbidities alongside the health debt because of the global pandemic.

The document concludes with a PESTLE analysis giving a comprehensive overview of the challenges faced by the population of the Western Isles

2.3 Assessment

As a result of the challenges that the H&SCP have faced between 2020-23, we have learnt that setting out a detailed plan in 2023 for the next 3 years is unlikely to achieve the impacts that we would want to achieve, in the context of a number of challenges that we are currently aware of now, and may not be able to predict.

Therefore, we have developed this Strategic Framework as opposed to a strategic plan. A strategic plan tends toward short-term, actionable tasks. A strategic framework, while focused, allows the flexibility to adapt to changing community dynamics, policy mandates, and population health needs.

2.3.1 Quality/ Patient Care

There is no direct impact, either positive or negative, on quality of care (and services).

2.3.2 Workforce

There is no specific indication on the impact being placed on staff including resources, staff health and wellbeing.

2.3.3 Financial

Describe the financial impact (capital, revenue and efficiencies) and how this will be managed. Sign off on any financial impact is required by the Chief Finance Officer.
